

Customer Testimonials.

We have many forklifts which need to operate and manoeuvre in and around tight locations throughout our factory. The risk of impact with racking has been a real concern, as the consequences can be devastating.

We installed "Protect-it" column protectors at critical locations around the factory four months ago and have been very pleased with their ease of fitment, and suitability for racking protection. The bright yellow colour is also an added benefit to highlight the location of the racking uprights.

For me, they provide peace of mind that there is protection to reduce the risk of damage to racking, stored goods, and most importantly, our employees.

With such a useful and functional safety device available, it is now simple, cheap and easy to limit the risk of damage to racking systems. I can highly recommend them.
